Winston-Salem Social News.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Winston-Salem, N. C., February 19.--Valentine parties have been features of the week in social circles. A number were given, and each proved a most interesting and enjoyable event. The social committee of the Young Women's Christian Association gave one Monday night to the English class. Cupids, hearts, etc., were used in the decorations, while games suitable to the patron saint enlivened the evening. The spirit of St. Valentine's Day pervaded the rooms of the Moravian Church parsonage Monday night, when Rev. and Mrs. J. K. Prohl entertained in honor of the Tri Mu Society. Glowing red hearts were everywhere, and the large delegation of guests was made happy for more than two hours. Another very delightful Valentine party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Yarbrough, when the Public Health and Nitschmann classes of Fairview Sunday school entertained.

More than fifty young people participated in the festivities. None of these parties was more heartily enjoyed than the one given at the Salem Female College, for the participants were the youngest girls in the school. The always attractive study parlor had been converted into a veritable garden of red hearts. The girls engaged in a number of merry games, with their instructors and President and Mrs. Howard Bondthaler. In the contest as to who could draw the best Valentine, Miss Rachel Luckenbach proved the most gifted. The Monday afternoon Book Club was delightfully entertained Monday by Mrs. Alice Maslin. Bright, interesting items were given by the members in response to roll call on the "Influence of the Monroe Doctrine on Latin America." Mrs. George W. Coan was hostess Wednesday afternoon to the Christian Woman's Board of Missions. Several timely papers were read by the members, and Mrs. Coan made an instructive talk on mountain mission work. The seniors and juniors of the Salem College are looking forward with much interest to next Tuesday, this being the date chosen for their annual banquet. Appropriate decorations and Colonial costumes will be features of the event.

Wilmington Social News.

I., supreme regent of the Royal Arcanum. He was greeted here not only by the Wilmington members of the order, but by a number of officers of the North Carolina State Council, and was elegantly entertained. His day's stay was made one of incessant pleasure, ending with a brilliant banquet at night, at which nearly a hundred gathered. Grand Regent Henry E. Bonitz, of this city, presided as toastmaster, and besides an address by Supreme Regent Bowen, toast responses were made by Supreme Representative H. S. Duckery, of Rockingham; Supreme Representative Samuel H. Brinson, of Newbern; John E. Ray, of Raleigh, and Deputy Grand Regent James S. Cooper, Fred W. Bonitz,

Rev. S. Mendelsohn, D. D., and W. B. Cooper, of this city. A delightful event of the week was a Valentine party given Monday night by Miss Hazel Winstead, at the hospitable home of her parents, on North Eighth Street, while the Ladies' Aid Society of Immanuel Presbyterian Church also splendidly entertained Tuesday night, with a Valentine party. A marriage of interest, that took place here this week was that of Miss Etta Bishop, formerly of Norfolk, Va., and Burl Arnett Milligan. The happy couple is now in the North on a bridal tour, but in a week or so will be in Bolton, where the future home will be made. A pleasant occasion was a birthday celebration Tuesday night, given in honor of Captain John Barry, one of Wilmington's oldest and most highly esteemed citizens, and a member of the city's Police and Fire Commission. Capt. Barry, upon the anniversary of his natal day, was royally entertained at the central fire station as the guest of Fire Chief Charles Schinbren, and the members of the Fire Department. The affair was in the shape of a banquet, and was attended by a number of the city's prominent folk.

The New Hanover County Alumnae Association of the Greensboro Female College held an interesting meeting this week, with Mrs. Herbert McClammy, the president, presiding. The Cape Fear Golf Club is making elaborate preparations for a big day next Tuesday. The regular George Washington Birthday tournaments will be held then, and will last throughout the day. In the morning a men's handicap tournament of eighteen holes will be played, and in the afternoon the regular mixed tournament will take place. Several handsome cups will be given as prizes. Several interesting marriage engagements were announced this week. One was that of Miss Mary Winn Duffy and John M. Wiggins, both of this city, who will be married on Tuesday. The Carolina Yacht Club is looking forward to a big season this year at Wrightsville Beach, and Monday will hold its annual meeting, when extensive arrangements will be started with such an end in sight. The yearly election of officers will also take place then. The engagement of Miss Annie Blount DeRosier and William A. Townes, both of this city, was announced this week. The bride-elect is one of Wilmington's foremost society women, and Mr. Townes is connected with the law department of the Atlantic Coast Line here. The engagement of Edward David, of this city, and Miss Rebecca Liebman, of Atlanta, Ga., was also announced this week. A marriage of much interest to take place next week is that of Miss Eva Dreyfus, of Paris and New York.
